

Media Literacy Education

In this section of the AoC MLE clearinghouse you will find information and direct links to organizations, resources and events from around the world that are active and are relevant to media literacy education.

Our goal is to provide a user-friendly tool which will help educators, researchers, policy makers and students to find the information they are looking for in a timely and organized manner.

You can search by keywords or limit and better target your search by specifying language, country, other topics, type, etc.

Remember that all registered users can always add entries to this site. If you know of good media literacy education organizations, resources (teaching materials, articles, websites, etc.) or events not yet listed here, please take a few minutes and add them to the Alliance of Civilizations Media Literacy Education Clearinghouse. Thank you!
